in the early 1930s a wave of marian apparitions cases in which visionaries reported seeing and receiving messages from the virgin mary swept over belgium with over forty apparition sites and hundreds of visionaries the belgian apparitions often attended by crowds of onlookers were unrivalled in scope and complexity and they confronted catholics and others with a question how do you decide what you believe apparition fever explores the belgian apparitions from initial reports to the eventual recognition of two episodes in the 1940s it shows how knowledge was formed at all levels among the bystanders attending the sites to the medical experts who studied the visionaries and the clerical authorities who evaluated the authenticity of the apparitions tine van osselaer examines how these different perspectives converged and influenced each other whose authority was accepted or challenged and how the public character of the events affected their evaluation apparition fever reveals that the public setting of marian apparitions and the religious enthusiasm they triggered are not novel challenges for the catholic church on the contrary they have heavily influenced the evaluation of apparitions since the early twentieth century as early as april 1999 nasa administrator dan goldin established the decadal planning team dpt to provide a forum for future agency leaders to begin considering goals more ambitious than sending humans on missions to near earth destinations and robotic spacecraft to far off destinations with no relation between the two goldin charged dpt with devising a long term strategy that would integrate the entire range of the agency s capabilities in science and engineering robotic and human spaceflight to reach destinations beyond low earth orbit when the bush administration initiated interagency discussions in 2003 to consider a new spaceflight strategy nasa was prepared with technical and policy options as well as a team of individuals who had spent years preparing for the moment although elements of the policy that president bush announced at nasa headquarters in
